

HIGHWAY DEPT. KEEPS MAIN ROADS OPEN THROUGH NIGHT

With strong winds from the west causing drifting up to about 4 o'clock this morning, State Highway Department snow plows kept all main and secondary roads open in the county throughout the night and turned their attention to rural routes on the snow removal list this morning.

Friday's three inches of snow, the heaviest so far this winter, was followed by nosediving temperatures that put a layer of ice under the snow and made highway travel very hazardous while many sidewalks, too, were coated with ice.

The low temperature at the Gettysburg Times Weather Station was six above zero for Friday night. By 8:45 o'clock this morning it had climbed only three degrees. The State Highway headquarters on the Fairfield Rd. had a low of eight above zero while numerous reports of near zero readings were listed.

The Highway Dept. reported the snow reached a depth of five inches in the mountains where the switch-over from rain to snow occurred earlier than it did here. Gettysburg's snowfall was about three inches.

State Highway Dept. cinder crews started work at 3 p.m. Friday and as the slush and snow deepened, snow plows were sent out. There were three graders and 15 trucks, handled by 36 men, that worked on snow removal throughout the night. Seven other trucks and 16 men continued cinder operations all night and this morning.

While all main and secondary roads were kept open at all times, it was estimated that about 20 per cent of the rural routes, running north and south, were closed by drifting snow. All were expected to be opened by noon today.

Bitter cold Arctic air settled over the entire state today in the wake of a storm which scattered from 3 to 10 inches of snow across the Commonwealth, the Associated Press reported.

At Philipsburg the snow reached the 10-inch mark, adding to a blanket of snow that has been on the ground there since early in the season.

The Weather Bureau reported that the cold air mass covering the state would continue through the weekend, probably not warming until Monday.

Primary feature of the weather, the bureau said, would be very cold temperatures that might go as low as the near-zero readings of earlier this month.

At Pittsburgh overnight the official low hit 1 below zero.

MOTORISTS GIVE $3,700 TO POLIO

Adams County motorists have donated $3,700 so far toward the March of Dimes. Mrs. Joseph E. Codori announced today.

Mrs. Codori, chairman of the annual fund campaign of the Adams County unit of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said the $3,700 represents $300 more than the total turned in last year, throughout the campaign, by motorists responding to the annual letter appeal for donations.

Each year the county secures approximately $9,000 from all sources during the March of Dimes campaign. The income is secured from sponsorships of the annual Birthday Ball, containers placed in various business places, the drive in the schools, and the contributions made by motorists. Letters are sent to the 12,000 automobile owners in the county and they are asked to send in such donations as they may feel suitable.

Contributions made by motorists are listed by the post office shown on the envelope in which they are received. The amounts include: Abbottstown, $70.10; Arendtsville, $54; Aspers, $76.85; Bendersville, $57.60; Biglerville, $362.30; Cashion, $15.70; Berlin, $148.80; Fairfield, $115.70; Gardners, $192.40; Gettysburg, $1,576.41; Greenstone, $8; Guernsey, $7.35; Hampton, $11.10; Idaville, $5.80; Iron Springs, $7; Littlestown, $236.63; McKnightsburg, $9.50; McSherrystown, $83.50; New Oxford, $402.90; Cerrranna, $80.30; Peach Glen, $9; Seven Stars, $9.50; Table Rock, $14.80, and York Springs, $104.50.

HELDIT WILL FILED

The will of Charles E. Heldit, late of Cumberland Twp., was filed for probate Friday with the register and recorder. The estate estimated at $1,100 is left to his widow, Rachel W. Heldit, who is also named executrix. Dr. Heldit, a local osteopath, died February 7 at the age of 57.

EISENHOWER BAGS TWO QUAIL IN GEORGIA HUNT

BY MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower, happy over a modest start, tries his hunting luck again today in a quest for south Georgia quail.

The chief executive arrived here shortly before dark yesterday and brought down two birds in an hour's shooting. So did his host Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey. They were 10 under the daily limit of 12.

Aides said Eisenhower was pleased when he managed to bag a couple of birds before darkness brought him back to Humphrey's plantation estate, a 600-acre place known as Milestone. The President had said with a grin as he started out aboard a mule-drawn hunting roadster:

"Well, if we don't find 'em in about 15 minutes, it'll be a bad day."

MARKET MOVES INTO WEST END OF QUARTERS

The Farmers Market offered an entirely new appearance today, a change that customers held made the market seem much more attractive.

For years the farmers each held to their own particular stall in the market, and thus when the seasonal attendants were not present, there were wide gaps between the stalls in which foodstuffs were offered. This morning all farmers attending moved to the front of the market house.

There were two reasons behind the move, the farmers admitted—one is the location of the stove in the front end of the structure, the second is a planned reduction in the size of the market. The market house has two owners, Mares Sherman and the owners of the building housing the Peoples Drug Store. Sherman plans to continue the market in his half of the building, while the others plan to partition off their side. The move by the farmers would not have been required until next month, but the cool weather helped "hustle things" this morning.

Egg Prices Up

Egg prices moved up five cents a dozen, with most selling mediums at 45 cents, and large at 50 cents. A few "jumbo" size eggs were available at 60 cents a dozen.

Chicken prices strengthened, with most charging 55 cents a pound. Pork was abundant, with prices "about the same." Scrapple was mostly at 25 cents a pound, a decline on some stands. Other prices included tenderloin at $1.10 a pound; ham, $1 a pound; bacon, 50 cents a pound; ribs, 45 cents a pound; backbone, 50 cents a pound; sausage, 65 cents a pound; shoulder, 60 to 65 cents a pound; pudding, 40 cents a pound; hot maws, 60 cents a piece; liver, 50 cents a pound. Lard was 22 cents a pound.

Apples continued at a top of $2.50 a bushel; capons were 60 cents a pound; onions, 15 cents a box; apple snits, 30 cents a box; potatoes, 25 cents a quarter peck, 45 cents a half peck; apple butter, 45 cents a jar; potato salad, 25 cents a pint; cottage cheese, 20 cents a pint; jellies, 20 to 25 cents a jar; mixed pickle, 25 cents a jar; cookies, 25 cents a dozen; cup cheese, 30 cents a pint; butter, 70 cents a pound; pies, 40 cents for peach and 45 for cherry.

Sunday Ceremony At Moose Home

At 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the Moose home, the first enrollment ceremony of the Charles L. Lauver Memorial Membership campaign will be held. The class has been recruited for the last three weeks under the leadership of Membership Director William D. Fitzpatrick of Mooseheart, Ill.

Nevin C. Bush, governor of the local lodge, will conduct the meeting during which the degree staff of the Harrisburg Moose will exemplify the ritualistic ceremony. Also appearing on the program will be the Harrisburg Moose quartet which is directed by Charles Schaeffer.

Following the meeting the initiates, members and visiting members will enjoy a social hour.

THREE INJURED

State police said Mrs. Johnson was driving south and Eyler north when the Johnson car skidded and the vehicles collided. Damage to the Johnson car was estimated at $1,800 and the damages to the Eyler vehicle were listed as $600.

No one was injured in the second crash at about the same spot. In that accident, at 4:15 o'clock, Virginia Salloga, 51, Nanticoke, had stopped in back of a car that had halted while a school bus discharged passengers. William A. Lewis, 33, Columbia, Va., driving a truck south, was unable to stop and his vehicle rammed the rear of the Salloga car causing $200 damage to that auto. The truck was undamaged.

After an interruption the play was completed.

The snowstorm Friday had shown officials debating a postponement but they decided to go ahead without part of the cast. Decision that the "show must go on" was aided by the fact that the hall is scheduled to be used by a York Springs High School class this evening for a Valentine dance.

Maid Kills Frail Woman With Ax

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—A 25-year-old maid, employed at the home only three days, admitted she bludgeoned the frail wife of multimillionaire Samuel Hayne to death with an ax. Police Chief Clinton H. Anderson disclosed today.

Mrs. Peggy King admitted bludgeoning Mrs. Katie Hayden, 71, repeatedly last Wednesday after an argument over how to cut a bone from a roast, the chief said. The maid was booked on suspicion of murder early today.

Autopsy surgeons estimated Mrs. Hayden had been hit 20 to 30 times on the head and neck. Brutality of the act led detectives to believe that the killer was motivated by revenge or hatred.

A Valentine dance was held for students of the Eighth grade of St. Francis Xavier School and their guests Friday evening from 8 until 11 o'clock under the sponsorship of several of the parents.

On the buffet table were red heart cutouts and bowls of fruit punch, cup cakes, candy, pretzels and sandwiches. Dance music was recorded and games were played.

Before the dance the students presented the Sisters at the convent with a heart-shaped Valentine cake and other refreshments.

Parents present were Mr. and Mrs. Murray L. Goldsborough, Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Roy, Mr. and Mrs. William P. Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. Leo McDermitt, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Redding, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Riley, N. Stratton St.

A Friends meeting will be held at the Huntington Friends Meeting, York Springs, R. D., Sunday, March 6, at 3 p.m.

SHOW GOES ON DESPITE FIRES

A snow storm and two fire alarms complicated, but did not prevent, the final performance of the "Funnybone Follies" Friday evening in the York Springs fire hall under sponsorship of the Lions Club there.

Shortly after the stage snow began, the fire alarm sounded and York Springs firemen—and a considerable part of the 200 in the audience—went to the home of Charles Lory in York Springs where a chimney fire was extinguished without damage.

The play was near the climax of a "womanless wedding" scene when the siren sounded again. This time the firemen fought a stubborn chimney fire at the home of B. G. Blevins, Five Points, for an hour and a half. Damage was not serious.

After an interruption the play was completed.

The snowstorm Friday had shown officials debating a postponement but they decided to go ahead without part of the cast. Decision that the "show must go on" was aided by the fact that the hall is scheduled to be used by a York Springs High School class this evening for a Valentine dance.

Sketches

By BEN BURROUGHS

"Abe Lincoln"

Many volumes have been written . . . telling of Abe Lincoln's worth . . . narratives have sung his praises . . . to the corners of the earth . . . matters not where people come from . . . he is held in high esteem . . . Lincoln was a humble being . . . but held honesty supreme . . . though his life was filled with heartache . . . freedom's light he left behind . . . he was truly dedicated . . . to the welfare of mankind . . . people do not hold him sacred . . . just for principles alone . . . but rather for the way of life . . . he chose to call his own . . . righteousness and trust unending . . . make his memory sublime . . . through North and South and East and West . . . until the end of time.

Mr. Boyd's collections were divided as follows: township taxes, $813.07; Gettysburg Joint School District taxes, $3,872.27; county taxes, $846.11; and Adams County Institution District taxes, $56.75. Mr. Boyd listed his salary as $304.41.

Citizens of Reading Twp. paid $35,456.09 during 1954, according to tax collector J. S. Baker. Mr. Baker's year-end report, filed Friday with the clerk of courts, says that Readings still owe $8,428.92 in 1954 taxes.

Of the $35,456.09, $5,254.07 was collected in taxes levied by the township itself, and $22,714.34 by Conewago School District. The county received $4,475.44 from Reading and the institution district received the remaining $3,012.24 for the upkeep of the County Home and child welfare services.

Two year service stars were received by Michael S. Collins, Wayne Conover, Robert Eckenrode, Samuel Frymyer and Robert Nester. Three-year service pins to Gaylon Cornell, John Groft, Kenneth Hollinger and Wayne Reinhman. A one-year perfect attendance pin was given to Nelson Freeman. An award for six years service as assistant scoutmaster was presented to Paul E. Renner, and one for three years service in the same capacity to John R. Rudisill. Luther D. Snyder, who has served for nine years as a troop committee member, was also presented with a service award.

At the conclusion of the program, refreshments were enjoyed. The refreshments were provided by the parents of the Boy Scouts.

Women's Guild Meets

The Women's Guild of Christ Reformed Church held its monthly meeting on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Ralph I. Unger, 413 E. King St., with 21 members in attendance. The devotional period opened with the group singing of "Work for the Night is Coming."

A reading, "The Whole Armor" was read responsively. Mrs. Oliver Sennet read the Scripture and Mrs. Orville C. Sennet, leader for the evening, offered prayer.

The topic, "What Am I Working For?" was discussed by Mrs. Orville Sennet, who also gave a survey and statistical facts concerning the topic. Readings, in the form of a pin, were given by Mrs. Laverne G. Mummert, Mrs. G. Howard Koons, Mrs. Irvin C. Markle and Mrs. Clair R. Markle. A poem was read by Mrs. Harold E. Shoemaker. Mrs. Orville Sennet presented a talk regarding the work which Dr. Albert Schweitzer is doing in Africa.

Mrs. Unger, president, conducted the business session. A contribution of $5 was voted to the March of Dimes. Reports were given by the secretary, Mrs. LeRoy W. Berwager, and treasurer, Mrs. Bernard W. Dutterer. The birthday anniversary of Mrs. Orville Sennet was selected to be the leader for the next meeting on Wednesday, March 2, at the church.

2 COLLECTORS' REPORTS FILED

Mervin G. Boyd filed a report with the clerk of courts stating that he had collected $6,082.20 in prior year taxes from Cumberland Twp. A report by Walter T. Mehring, the current tax collector, listed collections of approximately $52,609.

Mr. Boyd's collections were divided as follows: township taxes, $813.07; Gettysburg Joint School District taxes, $3,872.27; county taxes, $846.11; and Adams County Institution District taxes, $56.75. Mr. Boyd listed his salary as $304.41.

Citizens of Reading Twp. paid $35,456.09 during 1954, according to tax collector J. S. Baker. Mr. Baker's year-end report, filed Friday with the clerk of courts, says that Readings still owe $8,428.92 in 1954 taxes.

Of the $35,456.09, $5,254.07 was collected in taxes levied by the township itself, and $22,714.34 by Conewago School District. The county received $4,475.44 from Reading and the institution district received the remaining $3,012.24 for the upkeep of the County Home and child welfare services.

The Ocker-Snyder Post No. 321, American Legion made plans for a smoker at the semi-monthly meeting of the Legionnaires on Thursday evening at the post home on E. King St. The smoker, with shrimp, will be held on Friday, March 4, 8 p.m. at the Legion Home. Members of the post and their male guests are invited to attend.

The fire company now uses two pumper, 30 and 16 years old. The older truck will be retired by firemen and kept on an inactive status.

Commander Robert W. Gouker, who presided, appointed the following to serve as a committee on arrangements for the annual birthday observance of the post next month: Earl L. Stites, James W. Fager, Elmer W. M. Dutterer and Ralph R. Ruggles Jr. Contributions of $5 each were voted to the Heart Fund Association and the Scotland School. It was announced that dues are now payable to the Adjutant William Warner, Ralph R. Ruggles Jr., chairman of the membership committee, or to Clarence J. Krichen Cr. at Zeffing's Hardware Store.

PLAN MINSTREL SHOW

Plans were furthered for the minstrel show, "Stars and Stripes," to be presented by the Legion on Wednesday and Thursday, April 13 and 14, 8 p.m., in the Littlestown High School auditorium. Stewart N. Long and Beaven Hanlon serve as co-chairmen of the general committee. The program committee includes Elmer W. M. Dutterer, chairman, William W. Pfaff, Clair Redding, Paul E. Renner and Atlee P. Robert. The ticket committee is composed of Commander Gouker, Gilbert A. Royston, William Warner and Earl L. Stites.

"Use Good Seed"

He urged that the farmers "use good seed. There's a lot of disease around, and if we don't use disease resistant strains we can expect disease. Some varieties are just not adapted to our areas, and if we just use any old thing we're more than likely to get a variety that just can't grow well here."

Inoculation of seed was recommended: "Seed is going to cost $40 or $50 a bushel, maybe more this year. It makes sense to spend 50 cents to inoculate that bushel to be more certain of getting a crop. And it makes sense to do a good job of preparing the soil and to use band seeding in planting. Those seeds are awfully tiny things. And they have just enough energy to push out a tiny root and a tiny sprout. Then they've got to get food and moisture. If you put a seed two or three inches from food, you might as well put it a half mile away—that tiny thing doesn't have the strength to get that far. If you put the seed in a field that is nothing but big clouds, all dried out, you're killing it. Moisture may be only a few inches away, but to a tiny seed that is a couple of miles away."

Rev. Seiwel To Speak

The Rev. Porter W. Seiwel, pastor of Redeemer's Reformed Church, will be the guest speaker at the monthly meeting of the Men's Brotherhood of St. John's Lutheran Church on Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the church. The evening's program committee includes Edgar E. Yealy and Donald H. Rouzer, Biglerville R. 1, and Donald H. Rouzer, Biglerville R. 1.

MARKET MOVES INTO WEST END OF QUARTERS

The Farmers Market offered an entirely new appearance today, a change that customers held made the market seem much more attractive.

For years the farmers each held to their own particular stall in the market, and thus when the seasonal attendants were not present, there were wide gaps between the stalls in which foodstuffs were offered. This morning all farmers attending moved to the front of the market house.

There were two reasons behind the move, the farmers admitted—one is the location of the stove in the front end of the structure, the second is a planned reduction in the size of the market. The market house has two owners, Mares Sherman and the owners of the building housing the Peoples' Drug Store. Sherman plans to continue the market in half of the building, while the others plan to partition off their side. The move by the farmers would not have been required until next month, but the cool weather helped "hustle things" this morning.

Egg Prices Up

Egg prices moved up five cents a dozen, with most selling mediums at 45 cents, and large at 50 cents. A few "jumbo" size eggs were available at 60 cents a dozen.

Chicken prices strengthened, with most charging 55 cents a pound. Pork was abundant, with prices "about the same." Scrapple was mostly at 25 cents a pound, a decline on some stands. Other prices included tenderloin at $1.10 a pound; ham, $1 a pound; bacon, 50 cents a pound; ribs, 45 cents a pound; backbone, 50 cents a pound; sausage, 65 cents a pound; shoulder, 60 to 65 cents a pound; pudding, 40 cents a pound; hog maws, 60 cents a piece; liver, 50 cents a pound. Lard was 22 cents a pound.

Apples continued at a top of $2.50 a bushel; capons were 60 cents a pound; onions, 15 cents a box; apple sauce, 30 cents a box; potatoes, 25 cents a quarter peck, 45 cents a half peck; apple butter, 45 cents a jar; potato salad, 25 cents a pint; cottage cheese, 20 cents a pint; jellies, 20 to 25 cents a jar; mixed pickle, 25 cents a jar; cookies, 25 cents a dozen; cup cheese, 50 cents a pint; butter, 70 cents a pound; pies, 40 cents for peach and 45 for cherry.

Thomas Edgar Eyler, 52, of 314 E. Main St., Emmitsburg, a passenger in the Eyler car, suffered lacerations of the scalp and forehead. They were treated at the hospital here.

State police said Mrs. Johnson was driving south and Eyler north when the Johnson car skidded and the vehicles collided. Damage to the Johnson car was estimated at $1,800 and the damages to the Eyler vehicle were listed at $600.

No one was injured in the second crash at about the same spot. In that accident, at 4:15 o'clock, Virginia Saloga, 51, Nanticoke, had stopped in back of a car that had halted while a school bus discharged passengers. William A. Lewis, 33, Columbia, Va., driving a truck south, was unable to stop and his vehicle rammed the rear of the Saloga car causing $200 damage to that auto. The truck was undamaged.

The Queen of Peace Council, PCBL, will meet Monday evening at 8 o'clock in Xavier Hall. After the business session games will be played and refreshments served.

COUNCIL RETAINS 12-MILL TAX

The borough of Biglerville adopted its 1955 budget at a council meeting this week in the Fire Hall, retaining the 12-mill real estate rate of 1954. The council also voted to erect an additional street light on Franklin St. Bills for the month totaled $69,27, and a one-dollar fine was accepted as a receipt.

The auditor's report for 1954 was accepted by the council. It shows that Biglerville began the year with $2,425.29 in the bank and ended it with $2,629.59 there. The budget for 1955 was $15,372.82 of which $7,530.53 came from tax collections. Expenditures were $9,643.86 for general government, $2,496.74 for protection of persons and property, $72 for health and sanitation, and $30,63 for highways.

After an interruption the play was completed.

The snow storm Friday had shown officials debating a postponement but they decided to go ahead with part of the cast. Decision that the "show must go on" was aided by the fact that the hall is scheduled to be used by a York Springs High School class this evening for a Valentine dance.

Engagement

Pearl—Reeder

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Reeder, of Yeagertown, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Marcia Nadine Reeder, to Private Robert Wayne Pearl, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Howard Pearl, of Hagerstown.

Miss Reeder was graduated from the Derry Twp. High School with the class of 1951 and in May will be graduated from the Shippensburg State Teachers College.

Pvt. Pearl was graduated from the Waynesboro High School in 1950. Before entering the United States Army, he attended Mt. St. Mary's College at Emmitsburg, and Shippensburg State Teachers College. He is presently stationed at Fort Knox, Kentucky.

Just Folks

LINCOLN

This his birthday! One who came

From a simple cabin door,
Step by step to rise to fame
And be loved forevermore.

Lincoln! Leader of a host
Love of liberty inspired.
Strong when strength was needed most.

Wise when wisdom was required.

Calm when furious was hate;
Patient under grievous care,
Never seeking to be great;
Wanting only to be fair.

Lincoln! Were he here today,
This his message brief would be:
Steadfast in the struggle stay,
Give your hearts to liberty.

Hanover Crushes Warriors 95-62 As Forry Sets Mark; Scrubs Lose Prelim 48-47

Bob Forry, Hanover scoring ace, set a new field goal record in the South Penn Basketball League Friday evening as the Nighthawks walloped the Gettysburg High Warriors 95-62 at Hanover. Forry tallied 10 goals for a total of 123 to shatter the old loop mark of 114 set by Jeb Stewart in 1942.

The 95-point total is believed to be the highest ever run up by an opponent against a Gettysburg High School team.

Hanover got off to a whirlwind start by piling up a 13-0 lead in the first four minutes of play before Dick Pennington netted a goal for the Warrior's initial score. The Hawks led 25-14 at the quarter via five goals by Forry and three by Terry Newman. Leading the Warrior attack were Pennington and Ronnie Williams with six points each.

Coach Karl Meyers' outfit turned on a blistering attack in the second period which was good for 36 points as again it was Forry and Newman who led the assault. Roll Johnson accounted for six of Gettysburg's 13 points as the Warriors trailed 61-27.

Jim Eversley, who enjoyed his best scoring spree of the season with 19 points, netted seven goals and a foul for Gettysburg in the third frame which ended with the Hawks on top 82-47.

Hawks Four It On

Substitutes played most of the final period although Coach Meyers re-inserted his varsity with two minutes to go in an apparent effort to establish a new high scoring record for the Hawks. George Forney countered by sending in his starters. Forry's final goal gave the Hawks their last points which tied a previous high mark against Shippensburg.

Dick Pennington added 16 points and Williams 11 to follow Eversley in the scoring. Newman ran second to Forry for Hanover with 18.

The loss was the 14th straight for the hapless Warriors.

Thrilling Finish

The hustling Gettysburg High Red-Devils lost a heart-breaker to the Hanover scrubs in the preliminary game 48-47. A foul shot by Hoff with 10 seconds to go gave the Hawks the decision.

A tap-in by Jim Wagnild after a pair of missed fols gave Gettysburg a 47-46 lead with 30 seconds remaining. Klinedinst drove in for Hanover's tying points before Hoff's winning free toss. Hanover has now won 11 straight league decisions without a defeat and gained the division title with the victory. Gettysburg's league mark is 6-6.

Next Friday the Warriors will entertain Waynesboro here.

Other Results

Elsewhere last night, South Carolina bottled up high-scoring Dickie Hemric for a scant 13 points, but Lowell Davis took over with 31 as Wake Forest won 90-81 in an ACC game. Princeton beat Brown 77-62, and UCLA gained a foothold in the Pacific Coast's southern division race by beating Stanford 25-23. The Uclans and Stanford will be at it again tonight.

Archie may have other ideas for he has been campaigning, long and loud, for a chance to meet heavyweight champ Rocky Marciano.

One is the 500 in which Mal whitfield, who holds the standard of 56.6, will tangle with Villanova's Charlie Jenkins for the first time. Young Jenkins has been attracting considerable notice with his feats at the middle distances.

Lehigh Courtmen Oppose Bullets In Two Games

A pair of Gettysburg College basketball teams bent on revenge will take the floor here tonight against Lehigh University. The Bullet varsity lost a 67-54 decision at Bethlehem while the freshmen bowed 73-67. Both local outfits feel they are capable of avenging the previous setbacks and tight games are anticipated.

Tonight's freshman game starts at 6:45.

On Monday evening the powerful St. Francis, Pa., dribblers will be here for a game with the Bullet varsity at 8 o'clock. No preliminary will be played.

SANTEE, DWYER, NIELSEN RENEW BATTLE TONIGHT

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK, Feb. 12 (AP) — Wes Santee, Gunnar Nielsen and Fred Dwyer will be back in Madison Square Garden tonight for Round 3 of their battle to see who can pull the world indoor mile record the lowest.

Two weeks ago, it was Santee who lowered it to 4:03.8. Then last week, Nielsen came right back and trimmed it to 4:03.6, while Santee and Dwyer wrestled 10 yards from front.

The Dons and No. 2 ranked Kentucky are idle tonight. The big conference battle shapes up at Minneapolis when first place Minnesota (6-2) tangles with Illinois, tied with Iowa for second at (5-2) in the Big Ten's TV game of the week. Iowa is at home to 2 weeks ago. For the past five days he has been training in Kansas.

Strategy Evident

The strategy is evident. Santee will try to keep up with Dick (Peter Rabbit) Ollen, who will set a blistering early pace. The Northeastern University student hopes to go through a 57-second first quarter, a 1:57 half and a 2:59 three-quarters. Wheew!

There are two other events on the program that very well could produce new world records.

One is the 500 in which Mal whitfield, who holds the standard of 56.6, will tangle with Villanova's Charlie Jenkins for the first time. Young Jenkins has been attracting considerable notice with his feats at the middle distances.

JOHNSON WINS ON KO IN 6TH

NEW YORK (AP) — Harold Johnson threw the perfect punch—a right to Paul Andrews' chin—and kindled hopes of another shot at Archie Moore's light heavyweight title.

MOORE IS LOST TO PENN STATE

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — Penn State's football Coach Rip Engle knows today what the Scottish poet, Robert Burns, meant when he said the best laid plans of mice and men oft go astray.

Rip was looking forward to beginning a real gridiron power next year in the centennial year of the founding of the state university.

His plans were built around a fleet Negro halfback, Lenny Moore, second last year in ground gained among the nation's ballcarriers with 1,062 yards.

Moore, a junior, was named to the third team All-America squad and the top vote getter on the AP Pennsylvania All-State team.

But yesterday a university spokesman said Moore was dropped from the university's student roll for "unsatisfactory scholarship." The spokesman said Moore's dismissal became automatic when he failed to pass 50 per cent of his subjects.

Last night Engle, obviously shaken by the news, said "It's a terrible loss. There isn't anyone on the squad within a mile of replacing him. He's the best I've seen or coached."

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Determine, the scrappy little winner of the Kentucky Derby last year, held the center stage in the $50,000 San Antonio Handicap today, but a pair of dangerous front runners threatened to steal the show at Santa Anita Park.

The two were Imbros, Determine's stablemate, and Poona II, a 4-year-old invader from Ireland.

Adams County Girls League

Biglerville took a tenuous hold on first place in the Adams County High School Girls' Basketball League Friday night by winning its sixth straight game of the season from Fairfield. Littlestown, with whom the Camerettes have been tied all year, had its game postponed. The two teams meet next Friday evening at Littlestown to decide the championship. In other games, Boiling Springs defeated New Oxford, and East Berlin won over York Springs.

Biglerville rallied in the third period to pull away from a scrappy Fairfield sextet and won 56-44, at Biglerville. High scorer for the game was Fairfield's star forward, Dot Myers, with 25 points. Joan Geiselman led the winners with 21.

Boiling Springs took over third place by edging New Oxford 36-35 at New Oxford. New Oxford jumped off to a 10-3 lead in the first period, but the Bubblerettes caught up in the third period, and finished ahead of their hostesses in a close finish. Betty Snyder was high scorer, tossing 22 points through the hoop, while N. Johnson led the winners with 18.

East Berlin pulled a mild upset, knocking off York Springs 44-42 at East Berlin. The East Berliners started fast and built up an early lead. The visitors almost caught up with a late rally but fell just short. Judy Weigle was high scorer with 29 points for York Springs, while Dot Myers had 27 for East Berlin.

The Littlestown-Newville game, which was to have been played at Newville, was called off because of poor weather and road conditions. It is expected to be played after the regular season. Littlestown's record remains unsullied, as the "Pacers" have won all five of their games.

Cashtown Squad Will Meet Sunday

A meeting of members of the Cashtown baseball squad of the Pen-Mar League will be held Sunday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the fire engine house in Cashtown.

John Wetzel, team manager, requests all members of last year be present. Others interested in playing for the team are invited to attend.

Fri. G-Burg Junior Hi Dribblers Bow to Hanover

The Gettysburg Junior High baskeeters dropped both ends of a twin bill with Hanover here Friday evening, the varsity losing 30-15 and the jayvees 33-10.

In the feature game the Hanover Falcons blanked the Braves in the first period piling up an 11-0 lead and from then on never were in trouble. Only one goal was landed by Gettysburg in the second quarter as the visitors held a 16-3 advantage at half time.

Sydney Steinway was the only local player able to land more than one field goal against the tight Falcon defense and he netted but two.

The loss was the ninth in 10 starts for the Braves. They will be idle until next

Hanover Crushes Warriors 95-62 As Forry Sets Mark; Scrubs Lose Prelim 48-47

Bob Forry, Hanover scoring ace, set a new field goal record in the South Penn Basketball League Friday evening as the Nighthawks walloped the Gettysburg High Warriors 95-62 at Hanover. Forry tallied 10 goals for a total of 123 to shatter the old loop mark of 114 set by Jeb Stewart in 1942.

The 95-point total is believed to be the highest ever run up by an opponent against a Gettysburg High School team.

Hanover got off to a whirlwind start by piling up a 13-0 lead in the first four minutes of play before Dick Pennington netted a goal for the Warrior's initial score. The Hawks led 25-14 at the quarter via five goals by Forry and three by Terry Newman. Leading the Warrior attack were Pennington and Ronnie Williams with six points each.

Coach Karl Meyers' outfit turned on a blistering attack in the second period which was good for 36 points as again it was Forry and Newman who led the assault. Rolf Johnson accounted for six of Gettysburg's 13 points as the Warriors trailed 61-27.

Jim Everly, who enjoyed his best scoring spree of the season with 19 points, netted seven goals and a foul for Gettysburg in the third frame which ended with the Hawks on top 82-47.

Hawks Pour It On

Substitutes played most of the final period although Coach Meyers re-inserted his varsity with two minutes to go in an apparent effort to establish a new high scoring record for the Hawks. George Forney countered by sending in his starters. Forry's final goal gave the Hawks their last points which tied a previous high mark against Shippensburg.

Dick Pennington added 16 points and Williams 11 to follow Everly in the scoring. Newman ran second to Forry for Hanover with 18.

The loss was the 14th straight for the hapless Warriors.

Thrilling Finish

The hustling Gettysburg High Red-Devils lost a heart-breaker to the Hanover scrubs in the preliminary game 48-47. A foul shot by Hoff with 10 seconds to go gave the Hawks the decision.

A tap-in by Jim Wagnild after a pair of missed fouls gave Gettysburg a 47-45 lead with 30 seconds remaining. Klinedinst drove in for the Southern's tying points before Hoff's winning free toss. Hanover has now won 11 straight league decisions without a defeat and gained the division title with the victory. Gettysburg's league mark is 6-6.

Next Friday the Warriors will entertain Waynesboro here.

BRIGHAM YOUNG UPSETS UTAH IN OVERTIME

By ED WILKS

They separate the men from the boys in five major college conference basketball races today after Brigham Young started the job last night with a 76-74 overtime upset of Utah in the Skyline.

It was a rocking defeat for Utah, ranked fifth in this week's Associated Press poll and winner of 17 of 19 games this season — including seven straight in the conference.

While the Skyline, Big Ten, Big Seven, Atlantic Coast and Southern division of the Pacific Coast have their hands full with first place battles, independent Marquette will be out to stretch its nation-leading winning streak to 18 games in a bid for a post-season tournament berth. The Warriors, ranked No. 9 in the poll, meet Bowling Green.

San Francisco, No. 1 team in the national rankings, kept the pace as the runnerup in the winning string derby last night by making San Jose State its 16th straight victim 59-49.

The Dons and No. 2 ranked Kentucky are idle tonight.

The big conference battle shapes up at Minneapolis when first place Minnesota (6-2) tangles with Illinois, tied with Iowa for second at (5-2) in the Big Ten's TV game of the week. Iowa is at home to Indiana.

Missouri and Colorado, both once beaten in the Big Seven, meet at Boulder for first place and Mary land tries for a full share of the Atlantic Coast lead against North Carolina. Maryland is tied for first with North Carolina State and Duke, but NCS is idle and Duke leaves the league to play Navy.

North Carolina tried to make it a four-way ACC tie last night, but ran into an upset by Virginia 98-73.

In two other important conference games last night, George Washington just about wrapped up first place in the Southern as Joe Holup scored 10 points in a closing 5-minute surge to trim Richmond 77-62, and UCLA gained a foothold in the Pacific Coast's southern division race by beating Stanford 85-63. The Uclans and Stanford will be at it again tonight.

Other Results

Elsewhere last night, South Carolina bottled up high-scoring Dickie Hemric for a scant 13 points, but Lowell Davis took over with 31 as Wake Forest won 90-81 in an ACC game. Princeton beat Brown 11-10. The U. of the South beat Tennessee 75-65.

One is the 500 in which Mal Whitfield, who holds the standard of 56.6, will tangle with Villanova's Charlie Jenkins for the first time. Young Jenkins has been attracting considerable notice with his feats at the middle distances.

SANTEE, DWYER, NIELSEN RENEW BATTLE TONIGHT

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK, Feb. 12 (UPI) — Wes Santee, Gunnar Nielsen and Fred Dwyer will be back in Madison Square Garden tonight for Round 3 of their battle to see who can pull the world indoor mile record the lowest.

Two weeks ago, it was Santee who lowered it to 4:03.8. Then last week, Nielsen came right back and trimmed it to 4:03.6, while Santee and Dwyer wrestled 10 yards with the victim 59-49.

The Dons and No. 2 ranked Kentucky are idle tonight.

JOHNSON WINS ON KO IN 6TH

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (UPI) — Harold Johnson threw the perfect punch — a right to Paul Andrews' chin — and kindled hopes of another shot at Archie Moore's light heavyweight title.

Archie may have other ideas for he has been campaigning long and hard, for a chance to meet heavyweight champ Rocky Marciano.

After Johnson's one-punch knockout of Andrews, the 2 to 1 favorite, in 1:46 of the sixth round last night at Madison Square Garden, the wheels started turning for another Johnson-Moore match.

When Johnson won a 10-round decision over Andrews last March 17 he got off the floor after a first round knockout. He didn't have to come from behind this time. Referee Al Berard and Judge Frank Barnes had it 4-1 and Judge Frank Forbes 4-0-1 at the end of five, with Johnson way out front. Two gave Andrews the fifth and Forbes called the fourth even. The AP scored it 5-0.

MOORE IS LOST TO PENN STATE

By ED CORRIGAN

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (UPI) — Penn State's football Coach Rip Engle knows today what the Scottish poet, Robert Burns, meant when he said the best laid plans of mice and men oft go astray.

Rip was looking forward to building a real gridiron power next year in the centennial year of the founding of the state university.

His plans were built around a fleet Negro halfback, Lenny Moore, second last year in ground gaining among the nation's ballcarriers with 1,082 yards.

Moore, a junior, was named to the third team All-America squad and the top vote getter on the AP Pennsylvania All-State team.

But yesterday a university spokesman said Moore was dropped from the university's student roll for "unsatisfactory scholarship." The spokesman said Moore's dismissal became automatic when he failed to pass 50 per cent of his subjects.

Last night Engle, obviously shaken by the news, said "It's a terrific loss. There isn't anyone on the squad within a mile of replacing him. He's the best I've seen or coached."

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI) — Determine the scrappy little winner of the Kentucky Derby last year, held the center stage in the $50,000 San Antonio Handicap today, but a pair of dangerous front runners threatened to steal the show at Santa Anita Park.

The two were Imbros, determined's stablemate, and Poona II, a 4-year-old invader from Ireland. Imbros had it a stand-off at 95-all.

ROADMENDER'S ALL

One of my favorite books for many years has been "The Roadmender" by Michael Fairless. The author wrote under a man's name but her real name was Margaret Fairless Barbour. She was the daughter of a county lawyer. This little book was written while she was dying of consumption, so that she never lived to see it in print, but it is one of the real treasures of literature. Though published fifty years ago, it still sells, and has sold in a dozen and more special editions.

So devoted to this book have I been that I collected every edition I could find, so that I have a book shelf of nothing but "Roadmender" special! It is the simple story of a man who repaired the road in England. The author has made us all roadmenders, taking note of nature, the human stream, and of God's love toward all—from the humblest to the greatest.

The spirit of the book is all summed up in these lines: "After all, what do we ask of life here or indeed hereafter, but leave to serve, to live, to communicate with our fellow-men and with ourselves; and from the lap of earth to look up into the face of God?" This is one of those "brief books" that I have mentioned so many times in this column. I understand that over half a million copies of this little book have been sold in all editions. I hope that millions are yet to be printed and read.

At another occasion, a group of senators came to urge Lincoln to reorganize his Cabinet. Once again he was reminded of the story of an old farmer back in Illinois who was pestered by skunks. As he went out into the night with his shotgun, ready to put an end to the unpleasant visitor, not one skunk but seven appeared. The farmer took aim and killed one, but that one raised such a fearful smell he decided the best thing was to let the other six go.

After listening to the story, none of the lawmakers pressed for Cabinet reorganization.

His Own Appraisal

Lincoln joked about himself as easily as he did about others. When asked how it felt to be president, he answered with the story of the tarred and feathered man whose neighbors rode him out of town on a rail. When they inquired how he liked it, the man replied: "If it wasn't for the honor of the thing, I would much rather walk."

"They say I tell many stories," Lincoln once remarked. "I reckon I do, but I have learned from long experience that plain people, take them as they are, are more easily influenced through the medium of the broad and humorous illustration than in any other way; and what the hypercritical few may think, I don't care."

Calm when furious was hate; Patient under grievous care. Never seeking to be great; Wanting only to be fair.

Lincoln! Leader of a host. Love of liberty inspired. Strong when strength was needed most. Wise when wisdom was required.

Calm when furious was hate; Patient under grievous care. Never seeking to be great; Wanting only to be fair.

Lincoln! Were he here today, This his message brief would be:

Steadfast in the struggle stay. Give your hearts to liberty.

Laughter Was Life Preserver For Lincoln In Darkest Days

Editor's Note—Here's the story behind Abraham Lincoln's famous wit by the noted biographer and author of the new illustrated biography of Abraham Lincoln.

By STEFAN LORANT

Written for The Associated Press

For Abraham Lincoln, laughter was the "joyous, beautiful evergreen of life." He needed it as he needed food and water and during the dark days of the war, laughter was his life preserver.

Lincoln's penchant for listening to and telling jokes is well known. But he seldom told a joke for the joke's sake. They were like parables; they were lessons of wisdom. His stories made a point clear, clinched an argument—and they usually began with "That reminds me . . ."

When Horace Greeley ripped into Lincoln in a violent editorial, the President was asked how he felt about it. Lincoln was reminded of the big fellow whose wife beat him over the head without resistance. As others tried to interfere, the man told them: "Let her alone. It don't hurt me and it does her a power of good."

At another occasion, a group of senators came to urge Lincoln to reorganize his Cabinet. Once again he was reminded of the story of an old farmer back in Illinois who was pestered by skunks. As he went out into the night with his shotgun, ready to put an end to the unpleasant visitor, not one skunk but seven appeared. The farmer took aim and killed one, but that one raised such a fearful smell he decided the best thing was to let the other six go.

After listening to the story, none of the lawmakers pressed for Cabinet reorganization.

"Job Breakdown" On Carkeeping More Efficient And Saves Time

By FREDERICK C. RUSSELL
Careless drivers can be reasonably certain their cars will last a lifetime.

Speeding Car Maintenance

Taking a leaf from industrial firms many forward thinking car owners are paying closer attention to what operations experts term "job breakdown." The car owner, too, is learning that by breaking down his carkeeping into its component parts he is able to scratch out a lot of unnecessary motions and speed up the whole process.

Just as many an industrial worker has lapsed into the habit of wasting his energies, whether doing a machine or a hand job, so the car owner has steadily fallen into the rut of expending too much energy for the results achieved. Now, cramped for time and having no surplus of physical energy for work around his car, many an automobile finds himself obliged to forego work that should be done. But by breaking down each job, analyzing it in the light of modern methods, he can not only get caught up with the jobs that presently stare him in the face but actually can take on much additional work that will save him many a dollar in preventable repairs.

Picked Up En Route

Ambulances and fire trucks of the future probably will not go screaming through busy streets but will simply use a special radio transmitter that will switch all traffic lights to red in all directions. . . . One of the new express ways will have heated access ramps to prevent snow and ice hazards. . . . One of the automobile makers points out the astonishing fact that while the United States and Canada have less than 10 per cent of the world's population they produce and use one third of the world's products.

Improvements Improved

Don't look now, but that innovation in car equipment which you may have thought was impractical

when you first heard about it a year or two ago probably has been greatly improved in current production. Right now we're having improvements in improvements.

There are greatly simplified pumps for power steering, for instance. Power brakes have reservoirs so that there is continued power assistance even if the engine stalls or has been switched off. They have done some new tricks with the panoramic type windshield, and in the field of the automatic transmissions there are impressive changes. Designers are making it easier to read the position of the selector lever for the automatic drive, and in some instances the selector is on the instrument panel instead of on the steering post. Even the power seat which a few auto shows back merely moved forward and backwards now goes up and down as well.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:

"I've often noticed that people who force themselves to operate an ailing car soon get into some pretty strange driving habits, but what really causes trouble is the way some of this bad driving spills over into the period when a man is operating a repaired car or a new one. Then he begins to punish it."

"Perhaps he has developed the habit of slamming on faulty brakes as the only means of really getting a stop. That is rough on the new car, especially if it is equipped with power braking. Or the brakes may be so rough that he has to go gently on the pedal to prevent being pulled violently to the right or left. With the new car this too gentle braking may actually bring on brake squeak."

Watching The Weather

Motorists who have the car treated to special services for the four seasons of year are on their way to realizing that in buying service it is well to bear in mind the importance of trying to match it to weather conditions. Brakes, for instance, should be adjusted at room temperature, so the job isn't especially logical during a heat wave or a cold snap. At such times an ignition check-up might be appropriate. In the case of valves a grinding job goes better if the weather is moderate. During a cold spell the motor will require more choking and that has a tendency to foul up the cleaned valves.

System May Be Low

While it is normal for power steering equipment to make a little noise if the wheels are cut to extremes and the engine is accelerated any continuous or too frequent noise may be a tip-off that the system badly needs oil. If there is a small amount of oil in the system it is pumped around at too high pressure. The noise, normal or abnormal, develops when the pressure relief valve goes into action and vibrates.

Short Test For Venting

When engines die out for no reason other than failure of the fuel feed system to keep the carburetor bowl filled, and assuming that the fuel pump has been checked and all lines cleared out, it is reasonable to suspect that there may be something wrong with the system's venting. Unless air can get into the gas tank fuel won't continue to be drawn forward to the pump because it is atmospheric pressure that really does the job. In checking the possibility of insufficient venting one reader wisely tried the car with the gas tank cap removed. This provided maximum venting. Wisely also he selected a route with as little traffic and dust as possible, and of course on a clear day. He recalled the story of the man who got himself into a pack of new trouble while trying to solve an old one.

Smart To Be Different

Having had innumerable demonstrations of the fact that automobile styles go round in circles don't forget that the smartest color for your car this year will be black or at least something conservative. This appears to go against all trends, but the standout always is the car that doesn't follow the leader. Just about everything in the book is being tried this year, extremes falling just short of a different hue for each fender, but the black car — once a drab number indeed — really stands out anywhere. It isn't difficult to keep looking smart either, provided it is a good paint job to start with. Black, to be outstanding, must have depth. That jet black is the ticket.

Signals On The Loose

If your car has directional signals without the self-cancelling feature, and you do not have a good memory, there's a good chance that the lights will continue to operate after you have completed a turn only to fool someone else into thinking you are about to make another turn. Sometimes it is just faulty cancelling mechanism. A car that came toward me the other day was flashing for a left turn. I planned to turn left at the same intersection. It took some quick thinking to realize that the driver wasn't going to turn at all but was headed straight across my path.

What's Your Trouble?

Q. Recently the engine of my car lost power on a long grade. Finally the car stopped, but after a ten-minute wait everything seemed normal again. Did heat affect the fuel pump? I noticed that the temperature gauge rose about half way up the long grade. N. N. C.

A. The pump wasn't involved in this directly. I think this was a case of vapor lock.

Q. Can fuel oil be used as an anti-freeze? N. B. V.

A. In very cold climates fuel oil and kerosene are used for this purpose, but the idea is not recommended. These are fuels and as such are dangerous to use for a coolant.

Q. The engine of my car picks up well enough if I take it slowly, but if I jab on the accelerator pedal there is little immediate response. Because of the ability to pick up slowly I believe that there is nothing wrong with the engine's ignition system. Wm. F.

A. You are right. The trouble is in the carburetor's acceleration pump which should be rebuilt.

Q. My car has a peculiar habit of pulling a little to the right when I accelerate the engine. I have had cars do this when applying the brakes, but this is a new experience. I only recently acquired this car from an estate. K. N. J.

A. This sort of thing can happen if there is a cracked frame. May also be adversely affected by a frozen rear spring shackle, so suggest checking this first.

Q. When the engine is switched off, and if I turn on the ignition, I notice that the engine temperature gauge rises rapidly to close to the danger point. The engine block has been flushed. The radiator has been replaced; also all new hoses. Have you any idea what would cause this? R. T.

A. I believe this is due to what mechanics call "after boil." It is due to hot spots in the motor block as well as the cylinder head. In turn, this is usually due to heavy accumulations of carbon in the cylinders. Since you did not mention ignition at all I suggest that you check the timing which may have been retarded in the summer to check excessive pinging.

Q. The engine of my car has developed the annoying habit of bucking at speeds of around 15 mph in high gear. The slightest pressure on the accelerator pedal seems to stop it. R. K.

A. I would lean out the idling mixture a bit. This should be done only with a hot motor, and remember that on your engine there are two barrels to the carburetor and thus two idle adjusting screws.

Q. What would cause loss of anti-freeze without any evidence of leakage? This is getting to be a bit expensive. L. N. B.

A. This probably is an internal leak. That is, coolant is leaking slowly into one of the cylinders when the engine is operating. If there were leakage when the oil level would rise.

Mr. Russell will answer your questions regarding the safe care and operations of the car. Just address him at 254 Fern St., West Hartford 7, Conn., and enclose stamped self-addressed envelope for a personal reply. There is no charge.

Once and for all, lost confidence in the old Whig party. They had lost confidence because the Whig party and its leaders, had lost touch with the times, and with the rank and file voter. The Whigs had, for too many years failed to attract their share of the young people. It had neglected to offer policies that could capture the imagination of any but the most rabid partisans. As a result, this Whig party just went out of business.

"These men who were building the Republican party a century ago must have done their work well. Four years later, they managed to attract enough support to win the national election, and to elect the man whose birthday we will honor tomorrow—our great Abraham Lincoln—to the Presidency.

tell you some of the ways in which we can speed up this 'catching up' process.

To Broaden Management

"The first and most fundamental job of my political party is the selection of candidates. We must support men and women of proven competence, of a stature to catch the imagination and enthusiasm of the voters of Pennsylvania. And, as state chairman, I intend to do all I can to see to it that our candidates are selected by the most representative and broadest group within the party that is practical. I shall encourage the same attitude at all levels of our party.

"The American people have long since grown out of voting according to blind party loyalty. Today, they want to see their candidates, hear their platforms, and feel that the party behind them is both responsible and responsive.

"As Republican chairman of Pennsylvania, I intend to broaden the management of the party. A party's responsibility to the people of a state is too great to leave its policy making in the hands of a few.

Policy Committee

"Right now, I am setting up several important working committees. One will be a Policy Committee. It is my intention that this committee will work out with the members of the Assembly and the members of Congress an integrated legislative program for the betterment of this Commonwealth. This committee will be my liaison with the individual members of the Assembly and Congress so that all members will have an opportunity in participating in the formulation of Republican legislative policy. The second will be an organizational committee chosen from state and county political leaders. The purpose of this committee will be to create or revitalize the municipal and county organizations. We must create basic organizations at the grass roots to carry the banner of Republicanism. Special committees will be set up as they are needed necessary to the Republican party.

Voters Lost Confidence

"It is obvious, furthermore, too many voters of Pennsylvania—so long the keystone state of Republicanism—have lost confidence in the Republican party. And such a lack of confidence by the voters existed in Philadelphia that it was one of the few major cities in the nation that even Eisenhower couldn't carry for the Republicans in 1952.

Must Revitalize Party

"It is my opinion that there are good and sufficient reasons for this lack of confidence—and, as elected chairman of the Republican party of Pennsylvania, I propose to do something about it.

"Having been suggested that we lock some of our leaders out. This is not time for excluding anyone. This is the time, above all times, that we need more supporters, not fewer. Let us make the Republican party an 'open door' party, in the fullest sense of the word. Here, as in the selection of candidates, the days of the closed political corporation are over.

New Ideas, New Leaders

"Our door must be open to new ideas, to new leaders, to new voters. In Pennsylvania, we must reach for a fresh, vital policy for our State, that can hold its head up with the human and sound set of objectives that has been carved out by our great Republican national administration.

"In this connection, I would like to see representatives of every Republican group, in every county, join together in a great off-year grass roots' convention — perhaps this summer — to hammer out a really popular program that comes from all of the party, to offer the people of Pennsylvania next year.

"We constantly must seek to maintain vigorous leadership. I'd like to see every older party leader in each county have a group of young men and women who are in training to help him.

"For a good many years, the young people of the nation found more promise in the program of the other party, misleading as it was, then they did in ours.

"Turn To Ike's Party"

"Now, more and more, they are turning to President Eisenhower's leadership. To capture this enthusiasm for President's Eisenhower's party however, we must do more than open our door for them. There must be something inside the door that will make them want to come in. That something must be new, fresh ideas; a dynamic program that recognizes the existence of problems and seek to solve them—and there must be room for their own personal advancement within the party structure.

"We must assure these newcomers—whether they are young people or not—that the leadership of the party is never frozen, is always flexible. As chairman of the Republican party of Pennsylvania I will do everything in my power to discourage factionalism in the party—but I know that the surest way to do this is to recognize leadership in counties or in cities that are not frozen, that are open to new ideas and new leaders.

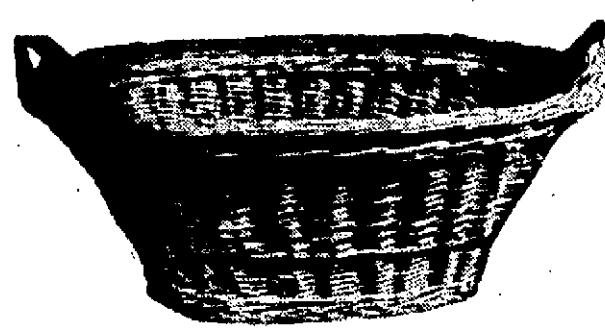

"The people of Pennsylvania want to vote Republican. I propose that we make it attractive and desirable for them to do so—just as the Eisenhower administration has done on the national level. I believe that this program—this set of Lincoln Day resolutions for the Republican party of Pennsylvania—will help us to re-win the confidence of the majority of the voters of the state. The great Republican party of Lincoln and Eisenhower has much to offer the great commonwealth of Pennsylvania—much to offer in sound and stable government, in an approach that is human without being patronizing, in a policy that is dynamic without being unfair.

"As chairman of the Republican party of Pennsylvania, by seeing that these Lincoln Day resolutions are carried out, I propose to let the voters know what we have to offer—with the confidence that they will welcome it enthusiastically after even a short period of Democratic administration."

party's councils. Those people with in the party, however, who stand in the way of building such a record must make way for others who can contribute rather than divide.

Lincoln: Military Man Of The People

BY BRUCE CATTON

Pulitzer Prize Winner, Historian And Journalist

(Continued from Page 1) coln needed — the knowledge without which he would have slumped down to the position of a Jefferson Davis, who knew all about everything except what makes people tick — he brought with him from the western prairies. Specifically, it seems fair to assume that he got a great deal of it from his own abortive and inglorious military experience in the Black Hawk war.

Lincoln apparently never took any pride in that experience. He spoke about it at some length in Congress, late in the 1840's, when he attempted to thrust a pin into the inflated reputation of General Lewis Cass, and he pointed his thrust with a long account of his own anti-climactic career as a soldier. To ridicule Cass he ridiculed himself; he had been an officer in a volunteer army, everything that he had done seemed they felt like giving it. It is of grotesque to him, his considered record that the first order Lincoln opinion clearly was that this front-tier war would have been won better without him—and yet, out of what he saw and did and learned as a frontier company commander, he imbibed the knowledge of the great American volunteer that enabled him to become the most successful commander-in-chief in the American armies have ever known.

Understand Volunteer Soldier

Lincoln understood the volunteer soldier because he had been one himself, in other words, and all of the oddities of the untrained citizen-army of the republic had been exemplified in his own experience.

In the Black Hawk war Lincoln showed up as the captain of a volunteer company—tough young men from Clary's Grove and similar places, who loved to fight if the mood happened to be on them and who owed allegiance and obedience to no one on earth except when that he had done seemed they felt like giving it. It is of grotesque to him, his considered record that the first order Lincoln opinion clearly was that this front-tier the shouted response: "Go to hell!" He was once sentenced by a court martial to carry a wooden sword for two days, because he had been unable to keep his company from raiding the stocks of the regimental commissary and getting drunk on government-issue whiskey. When an Indian peddler innocently wandered into camp, seeking to sell this and that to the volunteers, the men sprang to the conclusion that since they had enlisted to kill Indians they might as well begin with this one, the first Indian they had encountered; to keep them from committing this homicide Captain Lincoln had to take off his coat and offer to thrash each man in the company, personally. If the story about Lincoln marching his company across a field, coming to a fence and forgetting the order that would get men on the far side of it, and therefore hastily ordering the men to fall out, with the injunction to fall in again on the other side of the fence — if that story bears the earmarks of a folk-tale adapted to fit a folk-hero, it is nevertheless wholly in character. It tells what kind of officer Lincoln was and what kind of men he commanded.

Resented Lincoln Leniency

Presumably the inefficient young Captain Lincoln of the early 1830's had no provision of himself in the White House. Yet between the Captain Lincoln who carried a wooden sword because he lacked the touch of the inspired martinet, and the President Lincoln who could pardon a sleeping sentry, condemned to death, with the whimsical remark that he did not see how shooting the man would help him very much, there is a direct and all-important connection. As commander-in-chief, his willingness to roll with the punch and let the volunteer soldier off lightly plagued any number of good West Point generals. His leniency, they protested, made it impossible to maintain a strict discipline. What did it profit stern general to issue harsh orders against desertion, if the first condemned deserter could send his parents to the White House and come up with a Presidential pardon? How could the military machine make the citizen-soldier take it seriously, in such case?

Obviously, the military machine was up against it. But the point which Lincoln knew instinctively was that the discipline of the volunteer armies of the Civil War had to be wholly unlike the discipline that is stipulated in the military texts. You could do almost anything with those armies — capture Vicksburg, or win a battle of Gettysburg, or march triumphantly from Chattanooga all the way to Raleigh, killing the Confederacy en route — but you could not make them click their heels and say "Yessir." To the end they remained predominantly groups of lusty young men who knew the first names of their company commanders, saw no point in obeying orders perfectly — because he had "taken a shine" to them. It was, he said humorously, because "you never found fault with me." They understood what he was trying to do and how it could be done with the instruments at hand. They were not forever complaining about White House interference or trying to turn 19th century Americans into Prussian guards. They saw their men and his despairing Indian warriors; in the 1860's it came from fellow-citizens in the South; in each case the reaction was the same. All rules were off and all holds were barred; the big thing was to get the disturbance suppressed. In his first call for troops Lincoln had announced that "combinations too powerful to resist" by ordinary means had arisen in Dixie, precisely as if he were summoning an enormous posse comitatus—and, at bottom, that was about the way the citizen-soldier looked at it.

The volunteer's stout refusal to turn himself into a soldier of the traditional type was not, as so many of the generals and post-war critics supposed, just an incomprehensible quirk which added a fourth dimension to the problem of command. It was a built-in, fundamental condition of the Civil War armies' existence. They were like the country that bore them. It was rowdy and untamed and individualistic, and so were they; and in the last analysis it had an immeasurable vitality and energy and determination which carried over into the armies and fixed the direction of America's destiny for generations to come.

Peace Routine Bored Grant

These armies could not be used effectively by the McClellans and the Buells. They had to wait for the Grants and the Shermans, the unmilitary men who approached war's problems as if they were simply extensions of the ordinary problems of the workaday world. Grant had fallen out of the old regular army because peace-time military routine bored him and drove him to drink. Sherman had lost a command, early in the war, because his inability to see the problem in formal military terms depressed him and led his superiors to think him insane. And it was these two men, more than any others, who at last showed that they could use the armies after Lincoln's pattern.

Toward the end of the war Lincoln tried to tell Grant and Sherman why he had "taken a shine" to them. It was, he said humorously, because "you never found fault with me." They understood what he was trying to do and how it could be done with the instruments at hand. They were not forever complaining about White House interference or trying to turn 19th century Americans into Prussian guards. They saw their men as the Clary's Grove boys many times enlarged; seeing them so, they knew how to use them.

Recognized Leadership

In the end, to be sure, the Civil War volunteers did become soldiers, and as soldiers they had an exceedingly tough row to hoe. Yet if they lacked formal discipline they had something which, in the pinch, was better — a readiness to do whatever was asked of them once they felt that the man who was doing the asking understood them and knew what he was about.

There is plenty of evidence to show that they presently concluded that the Army Lincoln met those specifications. So they gave him, ultimately, that last full measure of devotion about which he spoke so eloquently and so gratefully, and — illogically, but effectively — they made possible the new birth of freedom that he saw beyond the bloodshed and the battle smoke. He knew them, he could touch them where they lived, for him they could do the impossible . . . and somewhere, invisible in the background but essential to the whole picture, there was the awkward figure of the young militia captain who had to tote a wooden sword because he could not make his volunteer company obey orders.

"Job Breakdown" On Carkeeping More Efficient And Saves Time

By FREDERICK C. RUSSELL
Careless drivers can be reasonably certain their cars will last a lifetime.

Speeding Car Maintenance

Taking a leaf from industrial firms many forward thinking car owners are paying closer attention to what operations experts term "job breakdown." The car owner, too, is learning that by breaking down his carkeeping into its component parts he is able to scratch out a lot of unnecessary motions and speed up the whole process.

Just as many an industrial worker has lapsed into the habit of wasting his energies, whether doing a machine or a hand job, so the car owner has steadily fallen into the rut of expending too much energy for the results achieved. Now, cramped for time and having no surplus of physical energy for work around his car, many an automobilist finds himself obliged to forego work that should be done. But by breaking down each job, analyzing it in the light of modern methods, he can not only get caught up with the jobs that presently stare him in the face but actually can take on much additional work that will save him many a dollar in preventable repairs.

Picked Up En Route

Ambulances and fire trucks of the future probably will not go screaming through busy streets but will simply use a special radio transmitter that will switch all traffic lights to red in all directions. One of the new express ways will have heated access ramps to prevent snow and ice hazards. One of the automobile makers points out the astonishing fact that while the United States and Canada have less than 10 per cent of the world's population they produce and use one third of the world's products.

Improvements Improved

Don't look now, but that innovation in car equipment which you may have thought was impractical

at room temperature, so the job isn't especially logical during a heat wave or a cold snap. At such times an ignition check-up might be appropriate. In the case of valves a grinding job goes better if the weather is moderate. During a cold spell the motor will require more choking and that has a tendency to foul up the cleaned valves.

System May Be Low

While it is normal for power steering equipment to make a little noise if the wheels are cut to extremes and the engine is accelerated any continuous or too frequent noise may be a tip-off that the system badly needs oil. If there is a small amount of oil in the system it is pumped around at too high pressure. The noise, normal or abnormal, develops when the pressure relief valve goes into action and vibrates.

Short Test For Venting

When engines die out for no reason other than failure of the fuel feed system to keep the carburetor bowl filled, and assuming that the fuel pump has been checked and all lines cleared out, it is reasonable to suspect that there may be something wrong with the system's venting. Unless air can get into the gas tank fuel won't continue to be drawn forward to the pump because it is atmospheric pressure that really does the job. In checking the possibility of insufficient venting one reader wisely tried the car with the gas tank cap removed. This provided maximum venting. Wisely also he selected a route with as little traffic and dust as possible, and of course on a clear day. He recalled the story of the man who got himself into a pack of new trouble while trying to solve an old one.

Smart To Be Different

Having had innumerable demonstrations of the fact that automobile styles go round in circles don't forget that the smartest color for your car this year will be black or at least something conservative. This appears to go against all trends, but the stand-out always is the car that doesn't follow the leader. Just about everything in the book is being tried this year, extremes falling just short of a different hue for each fender, but the black car — once a drab number indeed — really stands out anywhere. It isn't difficult to keep looking smart either, provided it is a good paint job to start with. Black, to be outstanding, must have depth. That jet black is the ticket.

Signals On The Loose

If your car has directional signals without the self-cancelling feature, and you do not have a good memory, there's a good chance that the lights will continue to operate after you have completed a turn only to fool someone else into thinking you are about to make another turn. Sometimes it is just faulty cancelling mechanism. A car that came toward me the other day was flashing for a left turn. I planned to turn left at the same intersection. It took some quick thinking to realize that the driver wasn't going to turn at all but was headed straight across my path.

Miles Horst Makes Plea For New Ideas, Leaders, Voters, Convention At Dinner Here

the men and women who had formed the newly-fledged Republican party were trying to find ways to build a broad and popular base for the political organization. They had founded the new party because the majority of American voters had, once and for all, lost confidence in the old Whig party. They had lost confidence because the Whig party and its leaders had lost touch with the times, and with the rank and file voter. The Whigs had, for too many years, failed to attract their share of the young people. It had neglected to offer policies that could capture the imagination of any but the most rabid partisans. As a result, this Whig party just went out of business.

"These men who were building the Republican party a century ago must have done their work well. Four years later, they managed to attract enough support to win the national election, and to elect the man whose birthday we will honor tomorrow — our great Abraham Lincoln — to the Presidency.

Another Great Leader

"I've told this little story because I consider it a good thing for some of our present day leaders to think about. I certainly don't mean that the Republicans — like the Whigs — are on their last legs. Far, from it — but a look at last fall's Pennsylvania election returns is all you need to know that our party could be more vigorous.

"Today, as a hundred years ago, the Republican party has found a great leader — man of Lincoln's dimension. I refer, of course, to our Adams County neighbor, President Eisenhower. Thanks to him, the party, after 20 years, regained national power two years ago.

"Even so, there are sure signs that the party, itself, has big job ahead of it to hold the confidence of the American people. Our minority position in the present Congress, for instance, certainly does not reflect President Eisenhower's popularity.

"Our financial base must be equally wide. Today, with more than a quarter-million contributors, this party can no longer be falsely accused of being dependent upon any special group — whether from industry, labor, or finance. By next election, I hope that figure will have risen to a million or more.

"This kind of broad-gauged management and financing will effectively open the doors of our party to everyone who will come in.

"It has, in the bitterness of defeat, been suggested that we lock some of our leaders out. This is no time for excluding anyone. This is the time, above all times, that we need more supporters, not fewer. Let us make the Republican party an 'open door' party, in the fullest sense of the word. Here, as in the selection of candidates, the days of the closed political corporation are over.

Must Revitalize Party

"It is my opinion that there are good and sufficient reasons for this lack of confidence — and, as elected chairman of the Republican party of Pennsylvania, I propose to do something about it.

"As most of my friends know, I didn't ask for this job of chairman. But, having been drafted for the post, I see it as my responsibility to take the lead in revitalizing our Pennsylvania Republican party and rewinning for it the confidence of the majority of the state's voters. Accordingly, I intend to do all I can to achieve this objective.

"Mr. Russell will answer your questions regarding the safe care and operations of the car. Just address him at 254 Fern St., West Hartford 7, Conn., and enclose stamped self-addressed envelope for a personal reply. There is no charge.

Q. Can fuel oil be used as an anti-freeze? N. B. V.

A. In very cold climates fuel oil and kerosene are used for this purpose, but the idea is not recommended. These are fuels and as

tell you some of the ways in which we can speed up this 'catching up' process.

To Broaden Management

"The first and most fundamental job of my political party is the selection of candidates. We must support men and women of proven competence, of a stature to catch the imagination and enthusiasm of the voters of Pennsylvania. And, as state chairman, I intend to do all I can to see it that our candidates are selected by the most representative and broadest group within the party that is practical. I shall encourage the same attitude at all levels of our party.

"The American people have long since grown out of voting according to blind party loyalty. Today, they want to see their candidates; hear their candidates, and feel that the party behind them is both responsible and responsive.

"As Republican chairman of Pennsylvania, I intend to broaden the management of the party. A party's responsibility to the people of a state is too great to leave its policy making in the hands of a few.

Policy Committee

"Right now, I am setting up several important working committees. One will be a Policy Committee. It is my intention that this committee will work out with the members of the Assembly and the members of Congress an integrated legislative program for the betterment of this Commonwealth. This committee will be my liaison with the individual members of the Assembly and Congress so that all members will have an opportunity in participating in the formulation of Republican legislative policy. The second will be an organizational committee chosen from state and county political leaders. The purpose of this committee will be to create or revitalize the municipal and county organizations. We must create basic organizations at the grass roots to carry the banner of Republicanism. Special committees will be set up as they are deemed necessary to the Republican party.

Million Contributors

"Our financial base must be equally wide. Today, with more than a quarter-million contributors, this party can no longer be falsely accused of being dependent upon any special group — whether from industry, labor, or finance. By next election, I hope that figure will have risen to a million or more.

"This kind of broad-gauged management and financing will effectively open the doors of our party to everyone who will come in.

"It has, in the bitterness of defeat, been suggested that we lock some of our leaders out. This is no time for excluding anyone. This is the time, above all times, that we need more supporters, not fewer. Let us make the Republican party an 'open door' party, in the fullest sense of the word. Here, as in the selection of candidates, the days of the closed political corporation are over.

New Ideas, New Leaders

"Our door must be open to new ideas, to new leaders, to new voters. In Pennsylvania, we must reach for a fresh, vital policy for our State that can hold its head up with the human and sound set of objectives that has been carried out by our great Republican national administration.

"In this connection, I would like to see representatives of every Republican group, in every county, join together in a great off-year 'grass roots' convention — perhaps this summer — to hammer out a really popular program that comes from all of the party, to offer the people of Pennsylvania next year.

"We constantly must seek to maintain vigorous leadership. I'd like to see every older party leader in each county have a group of young men and women who are in training to help him.

"For a good many years, the young people of the nation found more promise in the program of the other party, misleading as it was, then they did in ours.

Turn To Ike's Party

"Now, more and more, they are turning to President Eisenhower's leadership. To capture this enthusiasm for President Eisenhower's party however, we must do more than open our door for them. There must be something inside the door that will make them want to come in. That something must be new, fresh ideas; a dynamic program that recognizes the existence of problems and seek to solve them — and there must be room for their own personal advancement within the party structure.

"We must assure these newcomers — whether they are young people or not — that the leadership of the party is never frozen, is always flexible. As chairman of the Republican party of Pennsylvania, I will do everything in my power to discourage factionalism in the party — but I know that the surest way to do this is to recognize leadership in counties or in cities that can demonstrate popular support for their policies and position. Our country runs successfully on majority rule. And to me, what's good enough for the U. S. A. is good enough for the GOP.

Workers Are Welcome

"While we are doing this rebuilding organizationally — while we are opening our door to fresh ideas, fresh leadership, and more and more supporters — we must, as a minority party in the state, build up a constructive and specific record that will merit the confidence of the voters of Pennsylvania. By next election, I hope that figure will have risen to a million or more.

"This kind of broad-gauged management and financing will effectively open the doors of our party to everyone who will come in.

"It has, in the bitterness of defeat, been suggested that we lock some of our leaders out. This is no time for excluding anyone. "As I see it, the Republican party needs to catch the vision of our President — his humanity, his soundness, his breadth of appeal, his wisdom, and his integrity. I want to see, in the bitterness of defeat, been suggested that we lock some of our leaders out. This is no time for excluding anyone. This is the time, above all times, that we need more supporters, not fewer. Let us make the Republican party an 'open door' party, in the fullest sense of the word. Program Of Selling

"I want to make one other promise. The Republican party will no longer sell itself and its accomplishments short. Actually, the Republicans have given the State of Pennsylvania, and the people of Pennsylvania, a sound and constructive administration for the last 16 years; we have left the state in sound condition, financially and economically.

"Frankly, we Republicans admit that we have not done a good job of salesmanship. Too often, of late, we have obscured our accomplishments beneath a mess of family quarrels. From now on, we are going to take our light from beneath the bushel and tell the people what we are doing for them.

"The people of Pennsylvania want to vote Republican. I propose that we make it attractive and desirable for them to do so — just as the Eisenhower administration has done on the national level. I believe that this program — this set of Lincoln Day resolutions for the Republican party of Pennsylvania — will help us to re-win the confidence of the majority of the voters of the state. The great Republican party of Lincoln and Eisenhower has much to offer the great commonwealth of Pennsylvania — much to offer in sound and stable government, in an approach that is human without being patronizing, in a policy that is dynamic without being unfair.

"As chairman of the Republican party of Pennsylvania, by seeing that these Lincoln Day resolutions are carried out, I propose to let the voters know what we have to offer — with the confidence that they will welcome it enthusiastically after even a short period of Democratic administration."
